

EXPRESSION OF INTEREST
TO BE APPOINTED TO THE BENCH OF THE HIGH COURT

To be appointed to the High Court as a Judge or Associate Judge you must have held a New Zealand practising certificate as a barrister or solicitor for at least seven years: s 94 Senior Courts Act. In addition, in accordance with the criteria for appointment set out in the Attorney-General's published protocol, appointments are made considering personal and legal skills and experience, along with their character, and their experience and understanding of the communities they will serve as judges.

This form provides an opportunity to highlight experience; a more extensive work and personal history should be contained in a curriculum vitae that addresses all the criteria in the published protocol. Use additional pages to respond more fully on any part of this form if need be.

Personal suitability and integrity

The character of the applicant is a factor which weighs heavily in the appointment process. For that reason, once a person is invited to be considered for appointment, they are asked to make further disclosures through a declaration. That declaration seeks considerable detailed personal information about the person’s character, personal and business finances, regulatory or conduct (or other) complaints and how they were resolved, criminal record, state of health etc. This information is only sought at the end of the process. It is closely and confidentially held. It will be provided to the Chief Justice and the Attorney-General to enable the Attorney-General to make final appointment decisions.
